Retired Merchant and Wife Robbed. Arnold Gundelfinger, a retired merchant, ments at the Hotel Dorchester and robbed of jewelry valued at $2,500 in San Francisco, Cal., yesterday. According to Mr. Gundelfinger's story he and his wife were dressing in their rooms. He heard a knock on the door, and, answering it, he discovered a former bell boy of the hotel, James Gates, at the door. Gates said he had been sent up to look at the plumbing. He was told that Mrs. Gundelfinger was dressing and that he could not come in. He insisted and was allowed to enter the room. He then drew a revolver and de-manded that Mrs. Gundelfinger surrender her jewels.

Mrs. Gundelfinger said they were in another room, and at the pistol point Gates compelled Gundelfinger and his wife to go into the other room. Mrs. Gundelfinger then handed over a bag containing the jewels. Gates made his escape.

Night Work to Make Up for Temporary Deficiency in Force. Night work is being resorted to in some of the divisions of the government printing office, it is said, to make up for the temporary deficiency in the force of printers and other employes caused by the great exodus of voters who have gone to their homes to take part in the battle of the ballots which will be fought at the polls next Tuesday. Many of the employes who live in nearby states will leave for their homes tonight and tomorrow, and it is believed the force on duty Monday will be reduced fully 50 per cent below the normal owing to the absence of voters.

Mr. Hoyt Holton of the third division, late chaplain of the District of Columbia Corps, Spanish War Veterans, left here today, it is said, for Crown Point, Ind., where he will vote. He will remain at Crown Point until November 22, when his parents will celebrate their golden wedding. Joseph M. Lenhart, timekeeper of the third division, is on a visit to Meadville, Thomas Burns, an employe of the first division, has gone on a visit to his home in Michigan.

The announcement is made in the bindery that Edward W. Tatum, president of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, has tendered his resignation to take effect January 1, 1905. It is said his probable suc-cessor will be Robert Glockling, first vice president, of Toronto, Canada.

Recent visitors to the government printing office included Frederick W. Peacock Henry Hawkins Convicted of Being Drunk.

"What the police say about me is a deliberate falsehood," declared Henry L. Hawkins to Judge Scott this morning. Two members of the police force had told the court that the defendant is a victim of strong drink, and said he frequently made a nuisance of himself.

"The police of this city have persecuted me until I am thoroughly disgusted," said Hawkins. "I am a lawyer by profession, and a protege of Benjamin F. Butler. A NEW PAIN KILLER.

Washington Physicians Interested in a Report.

Washington physicians are much interested in a report recently made to this by United States Consul Liefeld at Freiburg, Germany, and it is said the subject will be brought up for discussion at the next meeting of the Medical Association of the District. It is stated in Consul Freiburg's report that "after three years of patient research Prof. Redard of Geneva, assisted by Prof. Emery, has discovered a new anaesthetic which promises to revolutionize the practice of dentistry.

"Finding that the nervous system is influenced by colored light, the professor experimented with each hue in turn, and soon perceived that blue had an extra-ordinarily soothing effect on the nerves. "Putting this discovery to practical use, he now shuts up a patient in a dark room and exposes his eyes to a blue light of sixteen candlepower for three minutes, causing him to lose all sense of pain, although at the same time retaining his senses. A tooth may then be pain-lessly extracted, with none of the aftereffects on the system which sometimes follow ether or chloroform."

German Princes to Visit America. To the already long list of royal persons visiting America this year two names will soon be added, as dispatches received from Germany say that Prince von Hohenlohe-Oebringen and his brother are sailing from Bremen next Tuesday on the Kaiser Wil-helm der Grosse. Prince von Hohenlohe has been for many years one of the best known of Germa sportsmen. He was until two years ago, when he disposed of a great part of his stable, the largest patron of the turf in Germany, and is very well known in Paris.

Accompanying the two princes will be Dr. Hofmann and Herman Knauer, a promi-nent architect of Berlin. The two Princes von Hohenlohe-Oehringen will attend the unveiling of the statue of Frederick the Great in this city and will afterward make

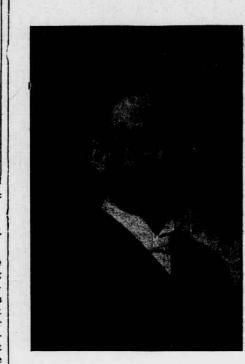

Washington is Ryland Methodist Episcopal Church, formerly known as Ryland Chapel. It was built in the year 1844, and rebuilt in 1863. During these years many additions and improvements have been made as necessity demanded them. In the past summer an extensive improvement was made by a complete renovation. The church was newly painted outside and beautifully frescoed and decorated in the interior. The grand organ was thoroughly overhauled. Particular attention was given to the lighting of the edifice, so that at night it looks brilliant and pleasing to the eye.

The recent improvements were made at a very large expenditure of money, which has mostly been paid, it is said, and the balance well provided for. Mr. George E. Barber, who is the treasurer, is authority for the statement that the church has never been in a better financial condition that it is at the present time.

The present pastor, Rev. R. L. Wright, was appointed to this charge by the Baltimore conference held in Baltimore, Md., April, 1903. He is regarded as a very able, zealous, sincere Christian man, and an elegant preacher. He is thirty-eight years of age, was born in Reiterstown, Md., and is a graduate of the Vanderbilt University, at Nashville, Tenn. He has been a member of the Baltimore conference of the M. E. Church for twelve years, and is looked upon as one of the brightest and ablest young men in the body. Mrs. Wright is an ardent worker in the church and a helpmate to her husband in his church work. Mr. Wright believes that a church that is going to succeed must be made attractive in its services as well as bright and inviting in its appearance. Special attention is being given particularly to the Sunday evening services to make them attractive. So, in order to accomplish this end a chorus choir under the able leadership of Mr. Edward Hall, accompanied by the grand organ and the Rebew Orchestra, is present every Sunday evening and ren-ders good music. In addition to this the choir is being assisted by some of the best soloists in this city, among whom are Mrs. T. P. Stephenson, Mr. William Clabaugh and Mr. John Purvis. Dr. W. L. Davidson, secretary of the American University, received information this week that the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, now in semi-annual session at New Haven, Conn., voted to hold their spring conference in Foundry Church, Washington, D. C., April 29. This is a notable gathering, as it brings together for conference all the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, thirty in number, in-cluding the missionary bishops. They will be in session for some days, including a Sunday, on which day the Methodist pul-pits will be occupied by the visiting bishops.

St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, rector, which was opened for public worship, after extensive repairs, four weeks ago, will not be for-mally rededicated this month, as was first planned. Owing to a necessary delay in in-stalling the new pipe organ and to other date has not been selected.

The council of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church, Rev. John T. Huddle, pastor, has made arrangenents for the rebuilding of the church organ. It is expected to have the work completed by December 1. The expense of the improvement is being met by gregation.

The Rev. Oliver Howard Perkins of the First Universalist Church, New Bedford, Mass., makes the following interesting claim in the course of his notes in a recent issue of his weekly calendar: "How few people know that children's day originated in the Universalist Church, in our church in Chelsea, while Dr. Leonard was pastor. This was quite a good many years ago. The idea was soon adopted by other denominations, so that today it is one of the bestestablished days in the church calendar. Very few people allow the summer season to pass without a recognition of this happy day. We are glad that our denomination has given to the Christian church at large such a blessed and sacred festival. May it long endure!" The Rev. Oliver Howard Perkins of the

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES.

The rally last night at Calvary Baptist Church on the occasion of the visit of Dr. Clark and Mr. Shaw was, of course, the CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOUR principal event of the week and, indeed, will be of the season, probably, to the local Endeavorers. This meeting took the place of the regular meeting of the District Union for November, which would otherwise fall on next Monday evening.

"Christian Opportunity in Japan" was the subject of an address by Mr. Kihachi Hirayama, a young man from that country, at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church last Sunday evening. The president of the society, Miss Alice Van Arsdale, presided, and a duet by Miss Alice Gifford and Mr. W. Frank Summy was a pleasing feature of the meeting.

Mr. Hirayama gave much credit to the old religions of Japan—Shintoism, Buddhism and Confucianism—but said that these systems were not equal to the re-these systems were not equal to the re-cent development of the people and were cent development of the people and were losing their hold on the educated classes. In speaking of the so-called "yellow peril" Mr. Hirayama asserted that it existed only in the columns of the yellow journals and in the imaginations of misinformed politicians. The white peril in the orient he declared to be far more of a real-Mr. Hirayama is temporarily connected

The reading room, with literature supplied largely by Endeavorers in the United States, is said to be well patronized by the visitors. Many societies in this country assist in the support of the home, which is only partially self-sustaining.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES.

The first meeting of the new board of control of the Washington District Epworth League was held Wednesday evening, Mr. E. R. Rochester presiding. Interesting reports were received from the officers pres-president, and Mr. H. A. Ison, fourth vice president. Reports were also received from representatives of the following chapters:

Mrs. M. M. Mitchell and Dr. Chas. B.

Campbell were appointed delegates to the ninth national anti-saloon convention, to be held at Columbus, Ohio, November 16, 17 and 18.

Plans were formulated for a series of entertainments and lectures to be given under the direction of the leagues during the winter. The subject was also discussed as to the advisability of the league's publishing a monthly paper in-stead of getting out the usual league. rectory.

Mr. Rochester, president of the Epworth League in the District of Columbia, is an unusually active league worker, and has long been identified with the organization, even in his home town in Iowa. He came to Washington in the fall of 1897, and became connected with Hamline M. E. Church, where he has held various offices in the where he has held various offices in the local chapter. At the present time, although holding no office in Hamline Chapter, he is financial secretary as well as secretary of the official board of the church.

And in order to have perfect faith in a promise we must know well the man who made it. The promises of the Bible are signed with God's signature-"I am that I am." If we believe in God at all we must believe His It is through the knowledge of Jesus Christ that we come to believe in the promises He uttered when on earth. If we have been about with Him, if we have watched Marcus Dodd says: "What have you ventured that you would what have you ventured that you would not have ventured but for God's promise? Suppose Christ's promise failed, in what would you be the losers? Of course you would lose what you call your hope of heaven-but what would you find you had lost in this world? When a merchant's ships are wrecked, or when his investment turns out badly, he loses not only the gain he hoped for, but the means he risked. Sup-pose, then, Christ were declared bankrupt, unable to fulfill your expectations, would you really find that you had ventured so much upon His promise that you are deeply involved in His bankruptcy, and are much worse off in this world now than you would otherwise have been? Or may I not use the words of one of the most cautious fear when we come to examine, it will be nothing we do, nothing we do not do, nothing we avoid, nothing we choose, nothing we give up, nothing we pursue, which we should not resolve, and do, and not do, and avoid and choose and give up, and pursue, if Christ had not died and heaven had not been promised us.' If this be the case if you would be neither much better nor much worse though Christianity were a fable-if you have in nothing become poorer in this world that your reward in heaven natural inference is that your faith in the future inheritance is small." It is strange that we who have such store of promises for help in every kind of need should stumble along weary and discouraged so often. Why not grasp hold of every promise and take it to God in prayer, claiming it for our very own? Dangerous hattening places at the see coast always have every promise and take it to God in prayer, claiming it for our very own? Dangerous bathing places at the sea coast always have ropes out and a life guard, where one may go out into the water safely, taking hold of the rope and enjoy bathing without fear. But what would you think of a frightened person who could not swim and who yet would walk far out into the water gasping with fear but ignoring the ropes put there with fear but ignoring the ropes put there for their comfort? There are promises in God's word which are just like these ropes, meant for the fearful and the weak, the ones who have not learned the art of swimming, the ones who cannot lie back and fully trust even on the top of a frightful wave that looks to others as though it would engulf them. There are other promises for the strength that enables us to rise high above all waves of distress. All are ours if we will but claim them.

Applied Truth.

"A man in London had all the promises of God printed together in a little book, and some time after some one in the country sent up for a copy. He received the answer that the 'Promises of God' were out of print. At one time in Chicago, when the meetings grew a little dull, I told them we would go through the Bible and look for all the promises given us, and and look for all the promises given us, and from that time there were no more dull meetings. We had never realized before what promises God has made to those who believe in Jesus Christ."—Moody.

"God's promises are dated, but with a mysterious character; and for want of skill in God's chronolgy, we are prone to think God forgets us, when, indeed, we forget ourselves in being so bold to set God a time of our own, and in being angry that He comes not then to us."—Gur-
